

TRAINING

The PRAXIS Training Specialty has been providing state-of-the-art technology training services for over two decades, adapting to the market's evolution.

This specialty generates ad-hoc solutions, supporting the development of professional and business talent, under current management trends with a high-performance and results-oriented approach.

Our hallmark

We focus on advising the talent management in a comprehensive way, providing consulting, integration and diagnosis, aligned with the values of the companies.

Services

- We offer official training from different manufacturers based on the program established for each of them.
- Diagnosis: We do an internal analysis to detect gaps and training needs. We prepare an evaluation of the collaborator's profile through an online diagnosis to define the certification course or track according to their work role.
- We enable their skills: We define Ad-hoc certification programs for each company based on the requirements that manufacturers request from them. We help update skills and develop a tailored training plan that meets the needs of our clients in terms of time and adaptability.
- Programs and incentives: We participate in different initiatives and continuing education programs with manufacturers that help our clients reduce investment costs and train more people.
- Certification process: We develop certification seminars supporting our clients with the best practices to pass their exams at the first opportunity. We integrate solutions that add value in consulting, coaching and development of educational content in matters of technology, finances and soft skills.

Benefits

- Considerable increase in employee productivity.
